Give your year end gift today!

You can do so much good in a family's life!

Dear Travis,

There's a school in the Takéo Province of Cambodia that is helping the most vulnerable children thrive, while supporting parents and the community.

Catholic Relief Services works with the Cambodian government, at national and local levels, to strengthen education and help all children—especially those who are marginalized for their disabilities—realize their right to education.

When you give a year end gift, you make a difference in the lives of children like these.

Special manuals help educators and families use local and low-cost materials to construct developmental toys and games for preschoolers. Parents and teachers can adapt the games to support children who have difficulties with seeing, hearing, concentration, motor skills and communication.

I have two children and it has been my desire as a father to give them the best education possible, meeting all their needs. Imagine not having the ability as a parent or grandparent to provide that. How happy would we be to suddenly have new ways of communicating with our children—especially after years of being unable to—so we can give them the best life possible?

Will you help a mother and father in 2022? With your tax deductible gift this year end, you can do so much good in a family's life—and open so many possibilities for a child in need.

Peace and light,

Sean L. Callahan
