End 2020 with a meaningful gift today

Dear D Larissa,

“It’s hard to take care of the family and make time for my son to make him study. I didn’t get to study much, so I want to make sure my son never goes through the same difficulties.”

I think you can relate to Bimala, whose son’s school closed due to COVID-19. Bimala works to make sure her 5-year-old son Ashis studies, but her family still has little access to basic needs.

For families facing tough situations around the world, the need is great.

For parents, children and families around the world—those already living in need of food, facing drought or living in an area with limited health care—this year brought on additional challenges.

Now children, refugees and families are facing the next year with uncertainty. It's hard to imagine what 2021 will bring. But imagine what your gift can do for someone in need today!

When you give, your gift could provide a family with hygiene supplies and food.

Will you end 2020 with a gift of hope that helps a mother like Bimala? There are just a few days left.

Please make a meaningful year end gift that provides critical help.

Peace and light,

Sean L. Callahan
