Your gifts serve the poor, help in disasters and do good work for those who need it most

Dear [name],

In seeing all the need, disaster and conflict in this world, you may feel hopeless and discouraged. It's hard to know how to respond. If you—like so many today—are looking for ways to live your faith and find hope, we invite you to extend hope and justice to your sisters and brothers in need around the world.

- Shelter in an emergency is home for a family.
- Training for a farmer means dignity in the community.
- Health Exams for a baby means life and joy for mothers.
- Safety for refugees means peace after so many years of conflict.

Spreading the love of Christ can be as simple as giving of yourself—knowing that hope is a blessing in your hands that is always yours to give. And in the act of giving hope, you have also found it!
