I'm back! I took a break. A 27 day break. It felt like forever. I miss being here. Now, I'm back. I wanted to summarize the journey of Nas Daily...

After seeing 65 countries in this online journey with all of you, I have decided to get a new home in Singapore.

Here is why.

P.S. Singapore will only be a home base. I will still travel to make interesting weekly content for you. Planned ahead: San Fran, USA, Broome, Australia, Honduras, Thailand and more! Stay tuned. ... Показати більше...

GOAL

"I don't do this for money, and I am lucky to be doing something I enjoy and making money from it."

Nas plans to employ a collective of content producers to target several specific audiences, and hopes to pass along his expertise and own a partial stake in their productions.

Nas has created a business off of his personal mantra of self-fulfillment. He sells themed T-shirts that spell out what percentage of your life is already over. Nas consults for businesses and people looking to produce multimedia content. He earns revenue from Facebook ads embedded in his videos. He puts his total net-worth at roughly $250,000.

And I promise you - it's amazing.

To most people, this entire trash process is boring. But for some reason, I got so into it. Here is what I learned.... Показати більше...
