

CHRIS CAESAR

ChrisCaesar@gmail.com

(339) 224-3268

EDITORIAL EXPERIENCE

SELF-EMPLOYED 2016-present

Freelance Writer: Working on both journalistic and marketing projects. Journalism appeared in The Washington Post, Boston Globe, Death and Taxes, and more. Marketing clients include SurveyMonkey, Suffolk University, B2W Software and Signal Real Estate.

METRO, Boston, Massachusetts 2016

Web Reporter/Homepage Editor: Developing online and print content for Metro Newspapers in New York City, Boston and Philadelphia. Also ran site independently on weekends/evenings.

BOSTON GLOBE MEDIA, Boston, Massachusetts 2014–2015

Breaking News Writer/Weekend Homepage Editor, Boston.com: Contributed distinctive original reporting that led to a number of traffic spikes on the site, including a post on Malaysia Airlines Flight 370 conspiracy theories. That piece was the No. 1 article on the site for days, and led to a guest appearance on CNN, a first for the newly rebranded publication.

PATCH MEDIA, Malden, Massachusetts 2011–2013

Local Editor: Oversaw Malden Patch, responsible for building the publication into one of the fastest-growing and frequently trafficked Patch sites in New England. Was named “bar none, the best breaking news reporter on staff” in a performance review.

LONDONDERRY TIMES, Londonderry, New Hampshire 2010–2011

General Assignment Reporter: Produced 10 to 15 stories a week covering the town.

ORANGE COUNTY REGISTER, Santa Ana, California 2008–2009

Laguna Beach Reporter: Worked with veteran news team covering Prop 8 in California.

LOS ANGELES TIMES COMPANY, Costa Mesa, CA 2007–2008

Political Reporter, The Daily Pilot: Coverage prompted city investigation of slumlord abuse.

EDUCATION

B.A. in Government, Minor in Philosophy

Clark University, Worcester, Massachusetts

Executive Editor, “The Scarlet” (School Newspaper)

Founding Editor, “This is Not the News” (Campus Alt-Weekly)

An online portfolio featuring past work is available at <http://chriscaesar.com>