

During Lent, we focus on sharing the love of Jesus with everyone.

At the Last Supper, where Jesus spoke His final words to the disciples, He instructed them to remember His sacrifice and show love toward others.

Rosemary, a Food For The Poor-Haiti team member who prepares food kits for distribution, considers her work a loving gesture.

“When we prepare the kits, we do it with all our hearts because people really need them ...,”

Rosemary said.

Love one another ... Jesus did.

The enclosed calendar is a special gift to help you reflect on the love of Jesus in your life.

You can honor Jesus through your own sacrificial gift by giving families the nutrition and basic needs they require to grow and thrive. Thank you for sharing your blessings.

LOVE ONE ANOTHER...
JESUS DID.

IN HAITI, LOVE FINDS A WAY

Food For The Poor is a household name in Haiti. Since 1986, churches, community leaders, and neighbors have counted on our organization to remain steadfast in delivering help through any challenge.

Right now, it's not easy for vulnerable people to receive help in Haiti. But every week, Food For The Poor-Haiti staff honor the sacrifice Jesus made and push forward with love to bring hope to people in need of something to eat.

Thousands of people fled their homes following violent gang attacks around Haiti's capital of Port-au-Prince. Calls flooded into the office from local community partners and churches.

Because of the kindness of donors, food distribution kits of dry goods (rice, beans, canned meats, etc.) are sent from Food For The Poor's Haiti office to communities in need. Food kits are also distributed at our Haiti office when it is safe to do so.

These displaced people urgently need food assistance. Please give a sacrificial gift today to help families without food in Haiti and other countries Food For The Poor helps.

Love one another ... Jesus did.

*"A new command I give you:
Love one another. As I have loved you,
so you must love one another."
(John 13:34, NIV)*

Standing in line waiting for a food distribution

"When people come from Cité-Soleil, Canaan, Carrefour, and other different places, it hurts us to see how these people are really in need of something that can help them. So, we are sending this message to you: please hear us and see how you can help them." – Rosemary, chief cook, Food For The Poor-Haiti
