Good morning NWACC faculty and staff, my name is DeAnne Witherspoon, and I am the new chair of the NWACC Board of Trustees.

On behalf of the board, it's my honor today to welcome you back to NWACC for the spring 2022 semester. As the pandemic continues to remind us of the importance of adaptation, collaboration and perseverance, our board will continue to support you in your efforts to do all of the above.

Good morning family, friends, faculty, and graduating nurses, my name is Todd Schwartz, and I am the vice chairman of the NWACC Board of Trustees. The Board Chair Joe Spivey was unable to be here today. On behalf of the board, it's my distinct honor today to welcome you to the 2019 nurse pinning ceremony for NorthWest Arkansas Community College.

I'm honored to celebrate such a significant milestone with you, our graduating nurses, who will move on to be the backbone of our health system. Thank you for your hard work within the classroom and the hard work you'll put into every shift, into every ounce of care you'll provide patients, every hour of the day, every day of the year.

Today, I'd like to also recognize the support of your family and friends who have been with you on this journey. I believe your accomplishment is shared by spouses, parents and children who may have also made sacrifices for you to be here today. Congratulations to all of you!

Other Commencement Ceremonies Speech

Hello family, friends, faculty, and graduating students, my name is Todd Schwartz, and I am the vice chairman of the NWACC Board of Trustees. The Board Chair Joe Spivey was unable to be here today. On behalf of the board, it's my distinct honor today to welcome you to the 2019 Commencement Ceremony for NorthWest Arkansas Community College.

For many of you, the path to this commencement has not been an easy one. You may be the first in your family to attend college or decided to return to higher education after decades of being in the workforce. Many of you have had long nights of studying in between working and taking care of your families. There may have been times you struggled to not give up when it was too challenging to get that paper finished or homework done. But with a strong will and support from your advisors, professors and family, you persevered, and it has paid off.

Today, celebrate your job well done with spouses, parents and children who may have also made sacrifices for you to be here today. Congratulations to all of you!
