Hospitali-Jea brewed!

In Pakistan tea isn't just a beverage, it's an event!
Numerous cups of tea are consumed as economy is discussed, political crises are solved, gossip is shared, jokes are cracked and friends are made.
People fall in love over tea and mend broken hearts with steaming mugs in hand.
There's tea with breakfast, tea in the evening, tea after dinner, tea when guests come over and tea just because.

So, here's to the brew that bonds - Bottoms up!

Within these hands is the power to set the world aflame!

These hands can be strumming a guitar or cocking a gun. They can be creating blue prints to a house or making plans to break into one. They can create stories of desperation or inspiration. They can be holding a pen or an infected needle. They can belong to a painter or a con artist. They can create nuclear fission or take part in watching the world burn.

It all depends on who lends a hand!
