

Poems From Norilsk

Ronja Korpela

Winter Song

Miss Eyesore 1964 - Theme Song (English)

Winter comes
Winter kills
Where no one walks the wind blows through

The whiteness of the blizzard
The darkness of the night
Not a soul in sight

The only one to see the truth
The only one to know
The secret lies buried
Under layers of snow

The monster in Norilsk

A man was taken and cast into prison
Innocent as few and unknowing of his fate
Her heart was cold and eyes like a blizzard
The monster in Norilsk

In a cold, dark prison
An inmate was forgotten
He saw something he shouldn't have
The monster in Norilsk

Somewhere in Norilsk

An inmate was forgotten somewhere in Norilsk
X was his name and he was innocent
He was cast into prison somewhere in Norilsk
It was cold and dark and lonely

An inmate was forgotten somewhere in Norilsk
He found empty hallways and cells
Wandering in the cold, somewhere in Norilsk
The only one to be found

Weaponized

She had a cold heart
Seeking for blood
She was trapped and caged and weaponized

With eyes like daggers
Claws made to kill
She was used and abused and weaponized

Secrets

In the midst of nowhere in north
Lies a prison in a town so cold
Home to the darkest of secrets
Will we ever know?

The whiteness of the blizzard
The darkness of the night
Mixed together to nothingness
Trying to find a light

Blinded

Winter comes and winter kills
Not a soul in sight
Where no one walks the wind blows through
In the darkest night

Where secrets lie buried
Covered in white
The only one to know
Is but a lonely prisoner, blinded by the light

The only one

Where he was forgotten
She was there for prey
He wanted to escape
She wanted him to stay

The only one to see the truth
The only one to know
The secret lies buried
Under layers of snow