"He's a heck of a football player," Columbia head coach Brian Allen said

FORT WHITE – It's not often that you have a quarterback so versatile that he can play on both sides of the field.

Teams dream of having a quarterback who not only has a strong arm and the speed and agility to run the ball up the field, but also switch over to defense and stop the other team in its tracks.

Fort White's DJ Jackson shined on both ends of the field this season, but it was his stellar performance on defense that set him apart.

He is the Lake City Reporter's Fort White Football Defensive Player of the Year.

The senior strong safety made 48 tackles this season, 32 of them solo. He also had five interceptions, two of which he

Jackson, DJ's father and Fort White head coach. "On offense he didn't have to put himself in that position because he had so many other playmakers to give the ball to."

DJ has been playing football since he was in second grade, and not only loves the game but the people he plays it with.

"I just like being able to have fun with the people I love," DJ said.

DJ pulled triple duty for the Indians as a strong safety, punter and the starting quarterback. On offense, DJ went 102 for 179, totaling 1,392 passing yards for 12 touchdowns. He also rushed in right touchdowns on his own for 228 yards.

"He studied hard and watched a lot of film" Demetric said. "He was able to play

It's not everyday you see a junior varsity player seamlessly make the transition to varsity. Columbia linebacker Ethan Umstead is one of the rare exceptions.

Umstead was a general on the field in his first year of service. He was a beacon of consistency all season, exceeding expectations – a rookie game-changer.

The beefy sophomore led the Tigers in tackles (40) and tied for third in sacks (4) this season. Umstead not only proved he was deserving of his starter status, but also gave a sunny glimpse of the potential Columbia star he could become.

For his breakout season, Umstead was named the Lake City Reporter's Columbia Defensive Player of the Year.

"He really has a bright future ahead of him."

Columbia's graduating class from last season left voids at several positions, including middle linebacker. Umstead squeezed every drop of his opportunity.

"I prepared really hard in the offseason knowing it was my turn," he said. "I knew I had to step up for the seniors, believing that if we were going to make a [playoff] run I was going to have to step up."

It wouldn't take long before Umstead began to cement himself as one of the team's leading stalwarts - reaching captain status before the season was over.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL UGA fines coach $25K for role in 'WakeyLeaks'

Associated Press

ATHENS — Georgia has fined assistant coach Shane Beamer $25,000 for accepting leaked game plan information two years ago while at Virginia Tech from a former Wake Forest assistant coach.

In a statement issued by Georgia Thursday, Beamer said then-Wake Forest assistant Tommy Elrod called him the night before the game in 2014 with "a few plays that he said Wake Forest might run."

Beamer — the son of retired Hokies coach Frank

Beamer — said he did not share the plays with anyone and didn't the information in the game, won 6-3 by the Demon Deacons in double overtime.

The younger Beamer said he "made a serious mistake in judgment by accepting the information and failing to notify" Virginia Tech officials.

Elrod, who was the Demon Deacons radio analyst, has been fired from his broadcast position.

Georgia coach Kirby Smart said the younger Beamer

NFL Wake makes Pro Bowl, could be playoff-bound

By STEVEN WINE

Associated Press

DAVIE — Cameron Wake is headed for the Pro Bowl again, validating his improbable career comeback at age 34. With a surgically repaired Achilles tendon, he's eager to take the next step — into the playoffs.

Wake has been in the NFL for eight seasons, all with the Miami Dolphins, and this is the first year he has played on a winning team. If Miami (9-5) wins Saturday at Buffalo and if Denver loses Sunday at Kansas City, Wake is in the postseason for the first time.

How sweet would that be? He won't say.

"We'll see when it happens," Wake said. "But right now, I'm thinking of one task. That's Saturday — the Buffalo Bills. Whatever happens after that, we'll talk about that, if and when it happens."

But anyone who knows Wake appreciates what a playoff berth would mean to the Dolphins' defensive end.

NBA Beloved Warriors fan 'Sweetie' dies at 107

By JANIE HAR

Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO — A 107-year-old Northern California woman who gained fame very late in life as an avid and gregarious fan of the Golden State Warriors died Thursday.

Helen Brooks was better known as "Sweetie" and became a media darling last year after The Mercury News of San Jose wrote about her decades-long dedication to the team that eventually won the NBA championship in 2015.

Brooks loved to tell the players what to do from the comfort of her living room. She disdained sloppy play.

Warriors coach Steve Kerr even gave a shoutout to Brooks on TV last year, and she was invited to watch the team play from a suite at Oracle Arena.

The coach also paid homage to her Thursday, saying the Warriors had lost its oldest fan.

"She took great joy in our team over the years and especially when we won the championship a couple years ago, she was really happy," Kerr said before a road game against the Brooklyn Nets. "We wanted to send along our condolences to her family.'

Daughter Lily Toney said her mother was a positive person who cracked subtle jokes and didn't let the little things in life bother her. Toney gave no cause of death for Brooks other than old age.

"I think she was just tired," she said.

UFC star "Cyborg" Justino has potential failed doping test

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Standout UFC fighter Cristiane "Cyborg" Justino has potentially violated the mixed martial arts promotion's anti-doping policy. The UFC announced Justino's apparent failure of a doping test Thursday. The U.S. Anti-Doping Agency, which administers the UFC's anti-doping efforts, told the promotion that Justino was flagged for an out-of-competition test Dec. 5.
