The film industry's best and brightest brought Conscious Luxury to the red carpet at the 91st Academy Awards with Atelier Swarovski and Swarovski crystal.

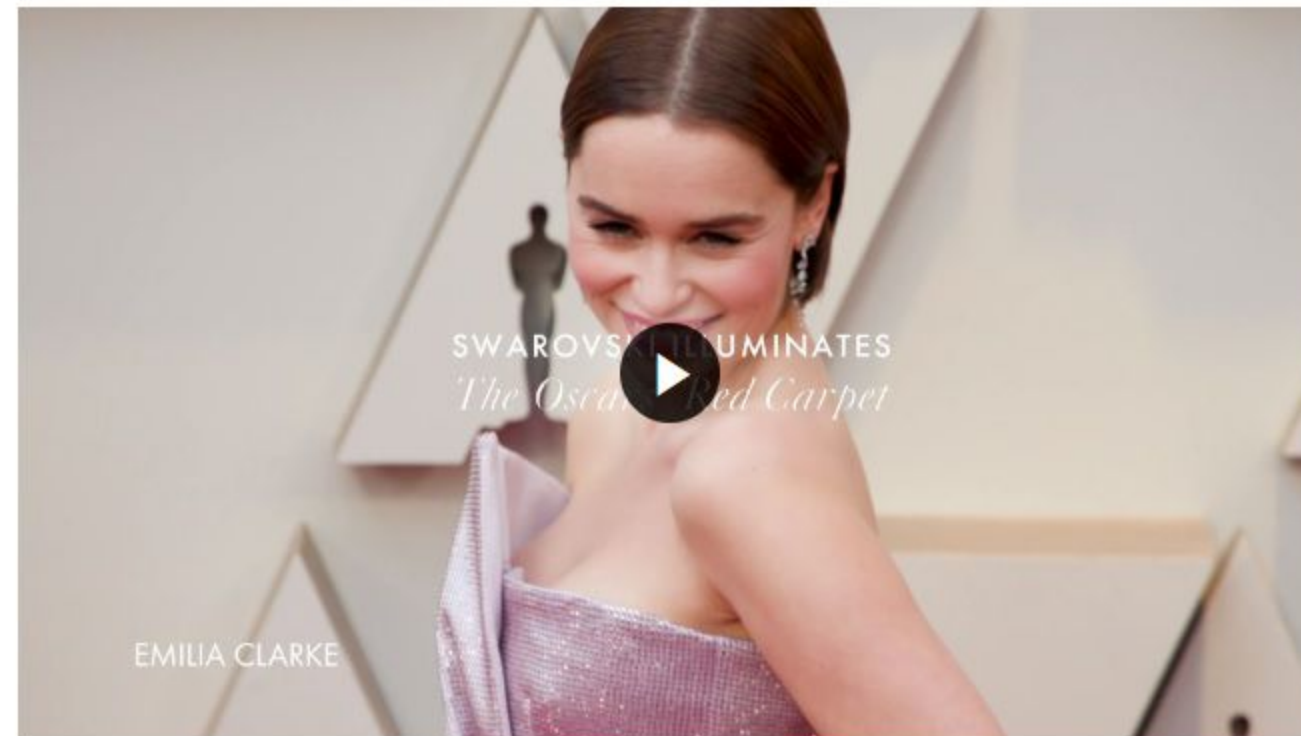

Constance Wu dazzled in exquisite bespoke Atelier Swarovski Fine Jewelry pieces, which took seven master craftsmen 150 hours to create. A presenter at the Oscars, Wu paired the suite of jewelry with a sunshine-yellow Versace gown dusted with Swarovski crystal embellishment.

The breakout star of If Beale Street Could Talk, Kiki Layne, wore stunning pieces from the Atelier Swarovski by Paige Novick collaboration. Layne wore colorful pieces from the Arc-En-Ciel collection, including a palm cuff, ring and earrings, complementing her dramatic pink dress.

Emmy-nominated actress Emilia Clarke wore a bespoke Balmain gown embellished with 300,000 Swarovski stones in Light Amethyst. Laura Harrier, lead actress of BlackKkKlansman, wore a custom ensemble made by Louis Vuitton and embellished with Swarovski crystal.

The sparkle didn't end when the ceremony did – several stars chose to wear Swarovski and Atelier Swarovski to the famed Vanity Fair Oscars Party. Kiki Layne wore Atelier Swarovski pieces again for the afterparty, pairing her dramatic silver gown with the Luna earrings and Lola ring from the Atelier Swarovski Penelope Cruz Fine Jewelry collection, and the Concentric ring from Atelier Swarovski's Fine Jewelry collection.

Oscar-winning costume designer Ruth Carter wore a one-of-a-kind 3D-printed Statement Piece designed by Austrian designer Julia Koerner in collaboration with Swarovski. Tony, Grammy and Emmy-winner Cynthia Erivo also chose to wear a collaborative piece, stunning in a Mary Katrantzou Swarovski Crystal Mesh Perfume bottle dress.

This is Us actress Susan Kelechi Watson wore a striking pair of earrings from Atelier Swarovski's Tigris collection, and 13 Reasons Why actress Anne Winters also chose to accessorize her look with the Tigris collection.
