

<h3>If money is everything, why is she so irresistible?</h3>

As one of the youngest self-made business owners, Alex thought he had everything.

Until his office romance with his previous assistant turns sour.

Scorned by his past devotions, he vows that love just isn't for him.

On the outside, he's suave, witty, divinely handsome...and doesn't seem to be interested in anyone but himself.

But he knows deep down: this facade can't last forever.

Lana, the fiery newcomer, is haunted by debts from her past.

She's exactly the kind of girl who gets under Alex's skin and makes him wonder.

Maybe this time will be different.

It was supposed to be a one night of fun. Playful. Ravenous. No strings attached.

Lana wasn't expecting him to be the kind of man who puts her satisfaction first...

And neither was expecting Lana to be assigned as Alex's new assistant the very next day.

Hurt and confused by his own pride, Alex plays the part of the insufferable boss.

Inside, he can hardly control his thirst for her.

Desperate for money, Lana clings to her uncomfortable position.

Because the people after her money won't stop until she's given them everything.

And yet she's starting to wonder if Alex is aching for a rematch too.

<h4> Will Alex and Lana give into each other's magnetic pull, or will their lives crumble around them like a house of cards?</h4>

