Elisabeth Kohlbecker is a writer, educator and musician. With over twenty years of education experience both in and out of the classroom, her entire professional career has been devoted to understanding the essence of the whole child. This is her first children's book.

Dr. Jeanmarie Sandford is a lifelong artist who has forever noticed even the smallest details on the tiniest blades of grass in the forest. Though this is her first illustrative undertaking, she believes that all of life is art, and should be embraced as such.
